RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

2015 – 2016

Project Manager, UCLA Addictions Research Laboratory
Project: Optimizing Naltrexone for Individuals of Asian Descent

Responsibilities: Managed participants during all phases of the study; determine initial eligibility from screening visits; collected saliva DNA samples; communicated with pharmacy to arrange medication pick-up; ran subjects in a 3T Trio MRI scanner and operate the scanner computer software at the Center for Cognitive Neuroscience (CCN) at UCLA; ran subjects and communicate with nurses at the UCLA Clinical and Translational Research Center (CTRC) during participant intravenous alcohol infusion sessions
Supervisor: Lara A. Ray, Ph.D.

2014 – 2015

Research Assistant, UCLA Addictions Research Laboratory,
Project: Black Men's Health Study (Graduate Student Dissertation Project)

Responsibilities: Advertised, recruited, and scheduled participants from campus and the local community; sent reminder emails and phone calls for appointments; ran in-person participant visits and administered consent; input questionnaires into a computer format for participants to complete; collected and input data
Supervisor: Lara A. Ray, Ph.D.

Independent Research Project, UCLA Addictions Research Laboratory

Responsibilities: Through the Psychology Research Opportunities Program (PROPS) and under the supervision of a graduate student, worked with data and statistical software to examine changes in craving, withdrawal, and positive and negative mood in participants who completed a laboratory smoking lapse task with incentives to delay and reduce smoking following abstinence
Supervisor: Lara A. Ray, Ph.D.

2013 – 2014

Research Assistant, UCLA Addictions Research Laboratory,
Project: Development of Ibudilast as a Novel Treatment for Alcohol Dependence

Responsibilities: Advertised, recruited, and scheduled participants from campus and the local community; sent reminder emails and phone calls for appointments; ran in-person participant visits and administered consent; input questionnaires into a computer format for participants to complete; collected and input data
Supervisor: Lara A. Ray, Ph.D.

2013

Childcare Center Intern, UCLA Department of Psychology
Megan E. Daly Infant Development Program – Franz Hall

Responsibilities: Supervised children ranging in age from six months to three years; assisted in all phases of their day; attended weekly classes relating to child development and teaching practices; noted developmental changes and scaffolding opportunities in one focal child; developed a case study paper on the observations from the focal child; created and implemented an emergent curriculum project with other interns based on the children's interest in movement and interactions with water through a science related activity

Supervisor: Alma Cortes, Ed. D., M.S. in ED

2013

Research Assistant, UCLA Department of Psychology
Social Interaction and Social Stigma Lab (SISSL)

Responsibilities: Advertised, recruited, and scheduled participants from campus; administered surveys to students; assisted with literature searches; assisted with stimuli development for face-pairing task; trained as a confederate to assist in graduate student projects examining stereotype threat

Supervisor: Jenessa Shapiro, Ph.D.

CLINICAL EXPERIENCE

2017 – Present

Graduate Student Therapist, UCLA Psychology Clinic

Responsibilities: Conduct weekly individual therapy with adult and child client using cognitive behavioral therapy and diverse evidence-based practices; attend weekly individual supervision meetings to discuss clients

Supervisors: Janice Jones, Ph.D., Ashley Smith, Ph.D., Anna Lau, Ph.D., and Lara A. Ray, Ph.D.

2017 – 2018

Intake Interviewer, UCLA Psychology Clinic

Responsibilities: Conduct clinical interviews with adults; write corresponding intake reports describing clients' clinical presentation and diagnostic information

Supervisor: Danielle Keenan-Miller, Ph.D.

2017 – 2018

Clinical Assessor, UCLA Psychology Clinic

Responsibilities: Conduct comprehensive neuropsychological and psychoeducational assessments with adult and child client to assess general intellectual functioning, executive functioning, memory, learning disabilities, and academic achievement; write reports including diagnostic information and treatment recommendations; provide feedback to clients and families

Supervisors: Anna Okonek, Ph.D. and Shannon E. Daley, Ph.D.

2016 – Present

Research Therapist, UCLA Addictions Research Laboratory

Responsibilities: Administer Structured Clinical Interview for the DSM-IV (SCID) assessing for mood disorders, psychotic disorders, and substance abuse disorders to determine eligibility for participation in a research study; deliver smoking cessation counseling sessions with daily smokers; suicidality screening (C-SSRS)

Supervisor: Lara A. Ray, Ph.D.

CERTIFICATIONS

2013 – Present Collaborative Institute Training Initiative (CITI): Human Research -
Social & Behavioral Researchers & Staff, Human Research - Biomedical
Researchers & Staff, UCLA HIPPA, FDA Regulated Research,
